He said that the decision of the Circuit Court was based on testimony relating to that case, and that the remark of the Court that it was within their knowledge that division boundaries ran through fish ponds, was merely a remark in illustration. But this Court is of opinion that an appeal does not lie from the decision of a Circuit Court, which has heard an appeal from a Boundary Commissioner, except upon alleged erro; of law, not on questions of fact. It is within the power of parties appealing from a Boundary Commissioner to take the appeal to a Circuit Court, or, the Supreme Court, if they appeal to a Circuit Court, no further appeal lies except as above limited. This appeal is therefore dismissed.
